STAUNTON, April 17, 1874. on night before last about half-past 10 o'clock a freight train on the Chesapeake and o railroad ran into another freight train ch was standing on the track some balf de west of Staunton. Although there a considerable smash-up, yet no one was but but the engineer, Mr. Jackson Black, was considerably bruised about the and hips, though the doctor prohis wounds not dangerous. The dent, we have been informed, happened anch the carclessness of not sending a back, as the regulations require, when is compelled to stop on the track.

A dangerous surgical operation was performed successfully by Dr. McGuire, of bound upon Mr. Dunlop, of this county. ist of this week. Mr. Barbour and some of the board of managers of the Lynchburg and Danville froad were here yesterday. I learn from me of the members of the Council this rening that Mr. Barbour gave no intimation as to whether he would or would not the free-bridge proposition lately tendered him by the Council. The same raties inform me that he had directed the spection of the toll-bridge, and also inted his engineers to ascertain the cost of building a bridge at the most desirable The Conference of the African Methodis is bound to be the home for both races, and we must be on friendly terms. As a teacher of the people, I am determined to show them the right way. The white people here have shown the members of the Conference much considera-ALPHA.

P. S .- How I came to say in my letter of the 11th that Rev. Mr. Lambert, of the Main-Street Methodist church, was pastor of the Lynn-Street church, I cannot tell, unless it was because the name of Mr. Lambert was lying before me in the Danville Times, and the error escaped me in revising the manuscrips. I have not yet heard the last of that ALPHA.

We could wish that the Virginians would listen to reason, for were the gauge of the Richmond and Danville railroad changed to that of the North Carolina railroad, then Colonel Buford might be induced to surrender his lease and make some new arrangement for the passage of his trains between Greensboro' and Charlotte. In that event, one of the great impediments in the way of consolidation would be removed.

GRANT LOOKING FOR A FARM IN MARYLAND. General Grant is looking for a quiet little farm in Maryland or Virginia, not a dozen miles from Washington. His tastes are rural, and he would like nothing better than a place of his own near by, to which he could retire for a day or two whenever he felt like it. He is very fond of the country, and this one reason for his long visits to Long Branch in the summer; but the sea shore is far off, and he would like a place close at hand to which he could easily resort in the pring and autumn. This spring and the coming summer he will doubtless be kept here by the presence of Congress till July, and a farm of one hundred acres, with fruit trees and stock, would be a great resource to him. When he leaves his present high office it is said that General Grant proposes to spend his winters at Washington, and he wants a form near at hand for amusement and recreation. The St. Louis farm is retained as an investment, and a most judicious investment it is likely to prove. It is stated on good authority that the farm will sell in less than it, and will soon inclose it.—Washington Correspondence Troy (N. Y.) Times.

Dasing Rosser of Asser Max at Big Spaine, - From a gentleman who came down from Big Spring yesterday morning we learn that a singularly bold robbery was commit-ted at that place Wednesday night, the particulars of which, as far as known, are as follows:

Captain Robert Kidd, proprietor of a hotel, and also of a bar-room and confectionery store, on awakening yesterday morning dis covered that the bed-room which was occupied by himself and wife had been entered while they were asleep, and that his wife's clothing bad disappeared. Further investigation revealed the fact that his pockets had been rifled of everything they contained, em- had watched the progress of the bill throughbracing a very fine gold watch and chain. a pocket-book containing a considerable sum of money, two bunches of keys, and some other articles of less value. But what surprised him most was the finding of an enormously heavy club and a pression of his views, and was always murderous looking bowie-knife, which the robbers, from some inexplicable cause, left behind them; conclusively showing that they entered the room prepared to commit murder if resistance should be encountered. It is no doubt providential that the occupants did not awake while the thieves were in the room.

Having possessed themselves of the key to the bar-room, the robbers proceeded thither but do not appear to have removed anything except two or three decanters containing liquor, which were found on the porch empty, yesterday morning.

Two strangers who appeared at Big being the guilty parties. They pretended, we learn, to have become separated from a party of men with whom they were hunting in the mountains, and stopped at Captain Kidd's hotel for recreation. In a day or two however, they changed their quarters to another hotel, where they have since re mained. The fact that one of them had no gun, and that their statements were conflicting as to where they were from, is at least yesterday, and their movements were being chase of United States bonds with a surplus closely watched .- Lynchburg News, 17th.

NEWSPAPERS AND POSTAGE.-The Postmas-Post-Office Committee of the House of Repto compel the prepayment of postage on all his own direction. Another argument was newspapers. In support of this proposition he adduces the following interesting statis-

Taking the newspaper circulation shown by the last census, and assuming that ten per cent, of the daily and sixty per cent of weekly newspapers go through the malls, it is hown that the receipts from postage on newspapers during the fiscal year of 1869-'70 should have been $2,305,541, whereas the actual receipts from newspapers and all other printed matter were only $835,728.

Calculating the annual increase in news paper circulation to have been 151 per cent. there were during the past year 5,871 newspapers published in the United States, with an aggregate circulation of 1,508,548,250 copies, of which 501,889,165 copies went through the mails. The receipts from postage on them should have been $2,616,789, instead of which there was received only $1,072,998, showing a loss of $1,543,791, or times the amount collected. During the fiscal year 1869-'70 there was collected $14 .-994,802 for postage on letters, which were in total bulk equal to 140 car-loads, whereas the newspapers aggregated bulk of 2.824 carloads, and returned, together with other printed matter, a postal revenue of only $835,729. In Great Britain during the same time there were 1,450 newspapers published, with aggregate circulation of 350,000,000 copies, of which 99,000,000 were transmitted by mail, and yielded a postal revenue of $990,000.

[If Mr. Creswell has recommended the some forcible remarks, urged the necessity of scheme we have so often commended he will carry his point. That is, prepayment by the ones, said he, and tell your people to live pound or ton, and no stamps except upon transient papers.]

(Special telegram to the Dispatch.) WASHINGTON, D. C., April 17 .- In answer Senate financial bill, the President said he out Congress with more interest than he had any other measure before that body since he had been President. He had at all times been entirely free in the exopposed to expansion without redemption. and in favor of free banking, accompanied with such legislation as would carry out the pledges of Congress and the party in the direction of a resumption of specie payments. But he had to look at this matter a little different from the views of this committee. They know very well what they want, and may imagine, as he might were he a citizen of New York, that the whole country want what they do. The chairman of a similar committee from Spring a few days since under somewhat Boston called on him yesterday peculiar circumstances are suspected of If he could be in favor of inflation it would be from the effects of such an argument as that gentleman advanced against it. But that position was unlike the one of this committee from New York. The gentleman from Boston, on behalf of those whom he had represented, started out with a condemnation of what he (the President) had always believed to be right, speaking as suspicious. They were still at Big Spring if he were wrong. They opposed the purfrom the United States Treasury. These bonds were purchased at used in the Boston memorial that the issue of greenbacks was of doubtful legality and was to be deplored, and had been sustained by a bare majority of one in the Supreme Court as a war measure. In conclusion, the President repeated that his views on this question were already know as against inflation and as opposed to breaking away from the redemption of pledges.

[Associated Press Telegrams.] The New Yorkers and the President WASHINGTON, April 17 .- The committee of eading New York bankers, merchants, and capitalists called on the President to-day, and presented a petition signed by two thousand five hundred persons, asking him to veto the Senate finance bill. Two of the delegation made speeches, in which they spoke of the bill as disastrous to the best interests of the country, and alluded to the pledges of the President and the nation for an early resumption of specie payments. The President, in reply, did not indicate what his action would be. He said all had their views, and he had no doubt if he lived in New York he would think with the committee, that the whole world ought to think as they did. He had never given any measure more attention than he had this onethe Senate bill. His views were already known. He had been opposed to inflation without redemption, and was in favor of redeeming the pledges heretofore made for a resumption of specie payments.

LINES, &C. Washington, April 17 .- Postmaster-General Creswell, in response to the telegram of the postmaster at Little Rock, received today, instructed him to deliver to Baxter all letters addressed to "Governor Baxter," or to "L. Baxter, Governor of Arkansas;" and to deliver to Brooks all letters addressed to Governor Brooks" or to "L. Brooks, Governor of Arkansas," and to retain all communications addressed to "The Governor of Arkansas," until further orders.

At the Cabinet meeting to-day it was stated that Baxter, of Arkansas, had selzed the telegraphic line to prevent the Brooks party from using it, and accordingly the War Department had issued instructions to an officer at Duval's Bluff to proceed to Little Rock and investigate the matter, and to see that telegrams to and from the General Government shall not be intercepted.

LITTLE ROCK, ARK., April 17 .- Baxter has issued a counter proclamation to Brooks's, In which he declares the latter's course a shameless assumption, without a shadow of law, and that the authority of the law will immediately and effectively be assertedpeacefully if it may; but asserted it must be in any event. DECORSTRUCTED TO A SERVICE Seff ... HEOT WEN HOT THE ST. LOUIS LIFE. THE LARGEST STUCK LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY IN THE WORLD.

"SO MUCH INSURANCE FOR SO MUCH MONEY." PAID-UP CAPITAL, ONE MILLION DOLLARS.

ASSETS FEBRUARY 1, 1874, SEVEN MILLIONS EIGHT HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS.

On the 15th of January the Mound City Life Is surance Company of St. Louis became the pur chaser, under the approval of the court and the State Insurance Department of Missouri, of the St Louis Mutual Life Insurance Company, increasing te capital to followed by a thorough reconstruction of the bus ess of the two companies, the union of their vast agency department, an immense reduction in exense, and a consequent decrease in the price of inurance to the lowest possible limit consistent with SECURITY TO POLICY-HOLDERS.

On the 19th day of February the name of the Mound City Life Insurance Company was, by an unanimous vote of the stockholders, changed to but of THE ST. LOUIS LIFE INSURANCE CO.,

followed by the most gratifying evidences of confidence on the part of the business community; the oresent company having issued between the 15th of January and the 1st of April, either as exchanges for policies in the St. Louis Mutual or in the form
